

LEARNING AND FUN THROUGH STORIES AND PLAYS

I am offering a community-based Stories and Drama Program as a learning tool for children and teenagers, including those who have physical, developmental, and psychological challenges.

As a professionally trained drama teacher and actress with valuable community service experience in my country of origin, Cuba, I am adept at creating interactive learning environments.

Among the multifaceted educational strategies I use are:

- Story-telling with children's active participation
- Improvising to facilitate self-expression
- Adapting popular stories to reflect fresh points of view
- Encouraging the composition and production of the participants' own plays

In addition to directing theatre plays for children and teens, I am equipped to teach the Spanish language to teenagers and adults with special needs.

I look forward to discussing this unique Stories and Drama Program with you.
